

Family Child Care Book Circle

- What: A book discussion to promote learning, support, friendship and fun!
- Where: University Apartments Community Center
- When: Wednesday November 11, 2009 from 6:00-7:30 PM
- Who: Open to anyone who cares for children, but intended especially for family child care providers.
- Book: Nurturing the Spirit by Aline D. Wolf—please Contact Annette @ 270-3441 to borrow a copy or purchase your own through parentchildpress.com
- Bonus! A light supper will be provided.
- RSVP: Please call Annette at (608)270-3441 to register.

About the Book: Nurturing the Spirit explores how we can bring about a more peaceful world by nurturing the spirit of the child. What is the meaning of the word spirit? How is nurturing the spirit fundamentally different from teaching a specific religion? How can we nurture the spirit in non-sectarian classrooms? How can teachers become spiritually aware? How can we explain spiritual nurturing to parents?

In this book, Aline Wolf explores these questions in depth and shares many practical suggestions for non-sectarian classrooms. Topics include: Cultivating Stillness, Nourishing Awe and Wonder, Cosmic Education, Care of the Earth, Children's Inner Peace and Love, Peace in the Classroom Community, School as a Family/Global Community, Spirituality and the Arts, and What About God?

Sponsored by: the University of Wisconsin-Madison, UW Office of Child Care and Family Resources, University Apartments Community Center, and Satellite—a non-profit agency providing support to Family Child Care Providers in the Madison Area.