Intergenerational Parenting Parts 1 & 2

Wednesday, April 17 & 24
Attend In-person or Virtually

Are you navigating the path of intergenerational change in parenting?

Explore the challenges of parenting differently than how you were raised, especially within multigenerational homes in this new, two-part workshop. Engage in open conversations, share experiences, and discover practical strategies to navigate the unique dynamics of forging a new path for your family.

Open to UW student, faculty, and staff parents and spouses/partners.

Seeking officers for the Wisconsin Student Parents Organization (WISPO)!

Are you a parenting student at UW? Do you have ideas about how campus or classrooms could better support parenting students?

Make your voice heard and help advocate for a more parenting student-friendly campus by joining the WISPO leadership team!

As a WISPO officer, you will join a supportive leadership team to advocate for parenting student needs, co-host family events, and connect student parents with resources. Time commitment is flexible, from as little as a few hours a month.

Email WISPO to learn more!

Call for Nominations! OCCFR Outstanding Faculty & Staff Award

Recognize a faculty or staff member who creates a welcoming and inclusive experience for parenting students in their classroom, lab, or other learning environment! Email a (maximum) one page narrative sharing why your nominee qualifies by April 12.

Diaper Donations to UW Graduate Students
Did you know the UW-Madison Teaching Assistants Association (TAA) provides diapers for approximately 50-80 graduate student families each month? All UW-Madison graduate students with children can request diapers. If you're not a graduate student you can request diapers from the Dane Country Diaper Bank.

Student Parent SPOTLIGHT
Edward Pimentel

Major: Chemistry PhD, 6th year

Hometown: Fremont, California

About Me: When I'm not in the lab, I love reading fiction, playing bluegrass music, and cooking with my kids!

Favorite activity to do with my kids: We love going to the public library together and then getting ice cream at the Chocolate Shoppe next door.

What is one takeaway from an OCCFR parenting class?: During one OCCFR parenting class over Zoom, Dr. Froyen suggested keeping a tally of different types of interactions I have with my kids over the course of a day (e.g. positive, connection-building interactions vs. negative/neutral interactions) and thinking about my parenting in that light has been a really helpful lens - it helped me shift the focus away from whether or not my daughters are always doing what we tell them to and shifted the focus instead onto how our relationships have been developing.

Book of the Month: Raindrops to Rainbow

Raindrops are falling outside, but there’s still a world of color to experience! Delightful rhymes and brilliant illustrations detail how a gloomy, rainy day might not actually be so gloomy after all when you get to spend time with Mom, Brown Bear, and the colors around you.

And when a "beaming rainbow, bold and bright" cuts through the sky, everyone gets to experience the joy of all the colors that can only come after the rain.

Shaving Cream Painting

As Earth Day approaches on April 22nd, this craft provides a wonderful opportunity to initiate discussions about the importance of caring for our planet.

Using common household items such as shaving cream, food coloring, and paper plants, children can engage their fine motor skills and hand-eye coordination while creating a colorful masterpiece! Alternatively, placing the paper plate in a ziplock bag offers a mess free craft experience.

Chef's Corner

Peanut Butter & Cheerio Bars

Melt the peanut butter and honey together in a microwave-safe dish. Add in Cheerios and mix well. Place mixture in an 8x8 or 9x9 dish lined with parchment paper or flatten out on a cookie sheet. Refrigerate until hardened and slice into bars. Enjoy!

Ingredients:

- ½ cup peanut butter
- ½ cup honey
- 4 cups plain Cheerios
